Review of Significant Changes to EN EN 1263-2 2002

Title. The title has been changed from “Safety requirements for the erection of safety nets” to “Safety requirements for the positioning limits”. Whilst not affecting the contents, it was felt that the original title misled readers as to the contents of the standard.

The Normative References now include a reference to BSEN 13374, Temporary edge protection systems.

Safety Requirements have not been changed, however the layout has been clarified to ease understanding.

Positioning Limits have not been changed dimensionally, however the System U positioning limits now refer to BS EN 13374.
